Dedication to
Ralph J. Rohner
Professor of Law

The editors of the Catholic University Law Review proudly dedicate Volume 33 to Professor Ralph J. Rohner for excellence in teaching and scholarship in the areas of commercial law and consumer transactions. Entering into his twentieth year at the Columbus School of Law, Professor Rohner has made invaluable contributions to students, the school and the legal community. His students and the law school have benefited from his dedication to outstanding classroom instruction in commercial transactions, consumer transactions, sales and banking law. During his tenure at Catholic University, Professor Rohner has served as Faculty Advisor to the Law Review. A former Editor-in-Chief of the Catholic University Law Review, Professor Rohner has been a superior resource for editors in performing their managerial activities. Professor Rohner also is held in high esteem for his 1981 chairmanship on the Consumer Advisory Council of the Federal Reserve System. In addition, he is eminently known in the legal field for his current position as consultant to the Federal Reserve Board, his past contribution as Staff Counsel on the Consumer Affairs Subcommittee to the Senate Committee on Banking, Housing and Urban Affairs, and for his extensive scholarship in the area of commercial law.

We take this opportunity to recognize Professor Rohner’s many contributions to the Columbus School of Law and the Catholic University Law Review, and to thank him for assisting students in their quest to excel in the legal community.
